Livingstone girl raped, poisoned

By Ruth Kambita

A 16-year-old girl from Livingstone District is receiving treatment at Livingstone University Teaching Hospital after allegedly being poisoned and raped by unidentified persons.

The incident occurred on August 18 at about 20:00 when the girl told her mother she was going to see a friend. Before leaving, she was asked to prepare nshima; after she left the house the mother expected her to return shortly.

According to Southern Province Police Commanding Officer Moono Namalongo, the mother of the victim waited until about 22:00 and went to bed around 23:00. She was later awakened by her 12-year-old son, who told her to check on his sister.

Mr Namalongo said the mother found the teenage girl leaning against a wall and very weak; the girl could not respond when questioned and had to be helped back into the house.

On inspection the mother discovered the girl was without underwear and her trousers were turned inside out, prompting suspicion of sexual assault. The mother also noticed a white substance coming from the girl's mouth, raising concern that she had been poisoned.

Mr Namalongo said the teenager was taken immediately to Livingstone University Teaching Hospital, where she was admitted in an unstable condition and was unable to speak when police visited.

He said two dockets one for suspected rape and another for suspected poisoning have been opened and investigations are under way and no arrests have been made.

I've run my race-Sean Tembo

By Alex Mahoshe

Patriots for Economic Progress (PeP) founder Sean Tembo has announced his immediate retirement from active politics, bringing an end to a 10-year political career without being elected to any public office.

In a statement, Mr Tembo said the decision came after careful consideration and extensive consultations with his family and friends.

He noted that his retirement coincides with the 10th anniversary of PeP's founding.

Although he never succeeded in being elected to public office, Mr Tembo said he remained proud of his contributions to Zambia's political discourse, particularly through the party's annual Alternative National Budgets and the jurisprudence that emerged from political cases before the High Court and Constitutional Court.

Mr Tembo also expressed gratitude to the friends, acquaintances and supporters who stood by him throughout his political journey.

He said he will now transition into private life while continuing to pray for the wellbeing and prosperity of Zambia.

Two boys drown in shallow well

By Ruth Kambita

Two one-year-old baby boys have drowned in a shallow well in a garden at Simon Jere Village in Chipata District.

The incident happened yesterday around 07:30 hours when Hellen Tembo and Evelyn Tembo, biological sisters from the same village, went to the garden to collect strawberries, each carrying her baby on her back.

According to Eastern Province Police Commanding Officer Robertson Mweemba, the women later untied the babies and left them playing on the ground as they continued collecting the strawberries. The babies reportedly crawled to a nearby shallow well and drowned.

Mr Mweemba said the mothers later noticed the children were missing and began searching before discovering them in the well.

With the help of neighbours, the bodies were retrieved and taken to Katan-dala Clinic, where they were pronounced dead on arrival.

He said the bodies were later taken back home in readiness for burial today adding that no foul play was suspected.

Resolute Party appeals justice for Kafway’s death

By Linda Nyondo

The Resolute Party has appealed to President Hakainde Hichilema to ensure a thorough investigation into the death of former Lunte Member of Parliament Mutotwe Kafwaya.

The party, which was part of the Tonse Pamodzi alliance and sponsored running mate Makebi Zulu for the NRPUP, described Mr Kafwaya’s death as “unacceptable.”

“No one deserves to die like that. It is unfortunate that he had to die in such a way,” party president Dr Martin Phiri said.

He extended condolences to the bereaved family and wished them God’s strength.

Dr Phiri also congratulated President Hichilema and the UPND on their victory in the 13 August 2026 general election, saying the poll was decisive. He called for national healing, forgiveness and reconciliation.

“As an integral partner in the Tonse Pamodzi alliance, we will not petition the just-ended 13 August general election,” Dr Phiri said. “We will, however, contribute towards national reconciliation and unity.”

The Resolute Party, which now has representation at parliamentary and council level, intends to provide checks and balances to the UPND government. It pledged to hold the government to account and to demand transparency.

Dr Phiri said it was time to allow the party to return to office its five-year mandate to implement its developmental agenda, and urged those who did not win to give the government space to improve living standards. He described election petitions as unproductive.

Parley chamber expansion nears completion

By Ruth Kambita

Government says the expansion of the National Assembly Chamber is expected to be completed by August 27, 2026, ahead of the seating of an enlarged Parliament.

Infrastructure Development Permanent Secretary Professor Albert Malama says major works have been completed, with only final works remaining.

The expansion follows the increase in constituency-based parliamentary seats from 156 to 226 after the creation of 70 new constituencies.

The restructured Parliament will also include 40 proportional-representation seats reserved for women, youths and persons with disabilities.

The allocation comprises 20 seats for women, 15 for youths and five for persons with disabilities.

Professor Malama said Government, in consultation with the National Assembly, decided to expand the existing chamber instead of constructing a new building.

He said the decision was intended to provide additional seating capacity while making use of the existing parliamentary infrastructure.

Professor Malama further disclosed that the expansion of the Parliament Motel was expected to be completed by the end of October 2026.

Findlay faces treason

By Alex Maboshe

Detained Lusaka businessman Harry Findlay has been charged with prohibiting or aiding the funding of terrorism, contrary to Section 20 of the Anti-Terrorism and Non-Proliferation Act No. 6 of 2018.

This is according to his lawyer, Milner Katoto, who spoke to journalists at the Lusaka High Court after proceedings were held in chambers.

Lusaka High Court Judge Lameck Mwale has recused himself from the case. As a result, Findlay remains in detention pending the allocation of the matter to another judge.

A few days earlier, Findlay filed a habeas corpus application under Order 54, Rules 1, 2 and 4 of the Rules of the Supreme Court of England (White Book, 1999 Edition).

Findlay was arrested by a joint security team on 4 August 2026 and has been held in Lusaka since then.

2 women nabbed for insulting HH

By Alex Maboshe

Two out of the three women that went viral for insulting President Elect Hakainde Hichilema on social media have been arrested.

Eastern Province Police Commanding Officer Robertson Mweemba named the detained suspects as Rosemary Tembo, 29, and Afelida Tembo, 32, both of Masangano Village in Chief Ndake’s area.

A viral video reportedly shows the two women, together with a third individual identified only as Aselida, insulting Mr Hichilema and his supporters after the general elections.

During interviews, the suspects told police they committed the alleged offence while under the influence of alcohol.

Mr Mweemba warned that people who routinely insult others will face the law if found guilty.

The two women are due to be transferred to Chipata Central Police Station for case compilation and are expected to appear in court on charges of hate speech and insults.

Beatrice Mutali bids farewell

By Alex Maboshe

Vice President Mutale Nalumango has praised outgoing United Nations Resident Coordinator Beatrice Mutali for her collaborative and inclusive leadership, noting that her tenure significantly strengthened the partnership between the Zambian Government and the United Nations.

Ms. Nalumango highlighted Ms. Mutali’s strong leadership during major national challenges, including the cholera outbreak, drought, and economic difficulties.

She said Ms. Mutali’s coordination effectively brought together the Government, UN agencies, cooperating partners, and the diplomatic community to respond to emergencies and advance Zambia’s development agenda.

In turn, Ms. Mutali expressed gratitude to the Government and the people of Zambia for the trust and partnership extended to her and the United Nations during her time in the country.

She described her service in Zambia as a privilege and paid tribute to Zambians for their resilience in the face of economic, health, and climate-related challenges.

Ms. Mutali pointed to the United Nations Sustainable Development Cooperation Framework for 2023–2027 as a shared platform enabling the UN and the Government to work in alignment with Zambia’s Eighth National Development Plan and the Sustainable Development Goals.

She noted that the strengthened partnership supports progress in key areas such as health, education, agriculture, nutrition, social protection, youth development, gender equality, disaster preparedness, and climate resilience.

Expressing confidence in Zambia’s future, Ms. Mutali affirmed that the United Nations remains a trusted partner in the country’s development journey.

‘Where’s Binwell?’ Court asks

By Alex Maboshe

The Lusaka Magistrates’ Court has summoned the two sureties of former Nkana Member of Parliament Binwell Mpundu to account for his failure to appear in court.

Mr Mpundu was due before Magistrate Webster Milumbe today for a ruling on whether he has a case to answer in the ongoing seditious practices matter. He did not attend.

Defence counsel informed the court that efforts to reach Mr Mpundu had been unsuccessful and that his whereabouts remain unknown.

Magistrate Milumbe directed the sureties to appear on 17 September 2026 to explain the accused’s absence.

The State indicated that it may apply for a bench warrant if Mr Mpundu fails to attend the next hearing.

FRA buys 680, 000 metric tonnes maize

By Ruth Kambita

The Food Reserve Agency (FRA) has bought more than 680,000 metric tonnes of Grade A white maize and paid farmers K3.4 billion since opening satellite depots on July 29, the agency said on Thursday. FRA Board Chairperson Suresh Desai says the purchases totalled 680,914 tonnes of white maize and 11.56 tonnes of paddy rice. Combined with a carry-over of about 1.455 million tonnes from the 2024/25 season, the national stock now stands at more than two million tonnes. “The Agency is still on the market purchasing designated crops, digital farmer payments are being enhanced and the nation is food secure considering the current stock position,” Mr Desai said. The agency introduced digital payments during the 2026 marketing season, using mobile money and bank transfers to speed up payments. He said the system has worked “extremely well,” enabling prompt payments and leaving farmers satisfied. To improve operations at the depots, FRA established Satellite Depot Committees to manage and coordinate activities, steps the agency said have enhanced service delivery and payments to farmers. The crop marketing period runs from May 1 to October 31, and FRA confirmed it will remain active in the market to provide farmers with access.

ZCS appoint Musukwa to ‘Superintend’ over FC Leopards Queens

By Benedict Tembo

Zambia Correctional Service (ZCS) has appointed veteran football trainer Shemu Musukwa as new FC Leopards Queens head coach.

Musukwa, an Assistant Superintendent in ZCS, has welcomed his appointment, thanked ZCS Commissioner General Fredrick Chilukutu for the trust and confidence placed in his abilities.

He has since pledged to work diligently to deliver the desired results.

“I would like to thank the Zambia Correctional Service Commissioner General, Mr Fredrick Chilukutu, for appointing me as the coach for FC Leopards Queens. I am truly humbled, and I promise to work hard to repay the confidence that the Commissioner General has shown in my capabilities,” Musukwa said.

Musukwa said his immediate priority was to ensure that Queens retain their place in the Premier League.

He pledged to build a team that will play attractive, entertaining and quality football.

“I want to bring champagne football, where the girls will play passing and entertaining football. Our supporters come to watch us, so we should entertain them by playing quality and attractive football,” Musukwa said.

The newly appointed coach has also called on all members of the Queens family to work together and rally behind the players, whom he described as being hungry and determined for success.

Musukwa, who took charge last week, is looking forward to working with the technical team and players ahead of the new Premier League season, which kicks off next month.

Kabwe-based Queens secured promotion back to the top flight after a strong campaign in the Zambia Premier League (ZPL) Women’s National League North Zone, positioning themselves among the leading contenders heading into the top Division.

Musukwa will be supported by Womba Kalenga as first assistant coach, Agness Banda (second assistant coach) while Elisheba Mungwa is the team manager.

A former left back Musukwa has long been associated with the ZCS football structures and the Kabwe-based FC Leopards setup.

He is a product of Young Kabwe Warriors.

From Warriors, Musukwa joined FC Leopards but his playing career was unfortunately cut short by recurring injuries, after which he transitioned into coaching and football development.

He has served in various technical capacities within the ZCS-backed football structures, including as an equipment manager, youth and lower-tier coach, second assistant coach and interim head coach.

Musukwa has also been involved in the development of the Young Prison Leopards Football Club.

As part of his continued professional development, he has undertaken formal coaching training, including a Confederation of African Football (CAF) C Licence coaching credentials.

Musukwa’s experience in player development and technical management is expected to be valuable as Queens prepare for the forthcoming Premier League campaign.

“The Zambia Correctional Service wishes Coach Shemu Musukwa and his technical team success in their new assignments and calls upon all supporters and stakeholders to give the team the necessary support as it seeks to achieve its objectives,” a ZCS statement said.

Choma defender Muleya dies in Solwezi after sudden illness

By Benedict Tembo

Choma Warriors Academy defender Choolwe Muleya died in Solwezi yesterday while on a trip to attend trials with Dove Queens.

Muleya, 24, had been in Solwezi for trials with Doves Queens since July 23, 2026.

According to Doves Queens General Secretary Gabriel Shipili, the player fell ill yesterday morning and was rushed to Solwezi Urban Clinic where she was pronounced dead around 07:00 hours.

Shipili said Muleya had shown no signs of illness and had taken part in training on Tuesday afternoon.

“Choolwe, a Macha Queens defender, has been attending trials at our club since July 23, 2026. She even trained yesterday around 16:00 hours and was in good health. But we were informed this morning that she woke up not feeling well. She was rushed to Solwezi Urban Clinic where she was pronounced dead and her body has since been deposited in the Solwezi General Hospital mortuary,” Shipili said.

Meanwhile, FAZ General Secretary Charles Chakatazaya described the loss as a painful moment for the football family.

Chakatazaya said the player’s death has left the football community in shock, coming at a time when she was seeking an opportunity to further her career.

“The football family is in mourning following the tragic loss of a young and talented player who passed away while pursuing her dream of joining another club. This is a sad moment for all of us,” Chakatazaya said.

He has conveyed condolences to the bereaved family on behalf of FAZ President Keith Mweemba and the executive committee.

“On behalf of the FAZ President (Keith Mweemba) and his executive committee, we wish to send our deepest sympathies and condolences to the family of our departed player,” Chakatazaya said.

Chakatazaya said FAZ is standing with the family, Macha Queens and Doves Queens during the period of mourning.

“We have lost a promising young player whose future in the game was still ahead of her. Our thoughts and prayers are with her family, teammates and everyone affected by this sad loss,” Chakatazaya said.

Mufunte thanks ZP for career development, donates jerseys to Dove Queens

By Benedict Tembo

Zambia women team goalkeeper Chishala Mufunte has thanked Zambia Police for developing her career and in a show of gratitude, donated a set of football jerseys to her former club Dove Queens.

Mufunte, who currently plays for Green Buffaloes, credited the Zambia Police Service for supporting her transition from striker to goalkeeper.

Her journey began after she was spotted at Dove Queens FC by Under-17 national coach, then Charles Halubono who made her first-choice goalkeeper.

Mufunte was then elevated to Under-20 side, and she is now a senior national team player.

She was part of the Zambia squad that competed at the 2026 Women’s Africa Cup of Nations in Morocco.

Speaking in Solwezi during the handover to North Western Province Police Commanding Officer, Brighton Siwale, Mufunte said the donation was a gesture of appreciation.

“I wanted to thank the Zambia Police for the foundation they gave me in my football career. I hope this small contribution will encourage and support more girls to reach greater heights,” Mufunte said.

In receiving the donation, Siwale commended Mufunte for remembering her roots and acknowledged her continued impact on young players.

“As the Police Command, we remain committed to supporting women’s football in Solwezi and beyond through continued sponsorship of the team. We are proud that after Chishala, we continue to produce national team players, with Bukata Kakumbi now following in her footsteps as first-choice goalkeeper for the Zambia Under-17 women’s national team that qualified for the 2026 FIFA U17 Women’s World Cup in Morocco.

“I urge you to remain disciplined, as that is key to progressing in your career,” Siwale said.

According to Dove Queens FC media, Mufunte was presented to the Police Command by Dove Queens FC General Secretary Gabriel Shipili, accompanied by Head Coach Renard Mulako and team captains Constable Prisca Nalengo and Edah Lungu.
